

Dolwyddelan.org - an all new Dolwyddelan website

The existing village website is coming to the end of it's technical life, so Menter Siabod have commissioned an 'all new' website from local web designers who are doing the work free of charge (as they have recently become permanent residents of the village).

If you have anything you feel should be included in the new site, please contact Michelle at the Pavilion or shaunhewitt@me.com

Community Council: The completion of the village enhancement project.

Thanks to the Rural Development Partnership (RDP) funding, the community council have managed to make some improvements in and around the village including ...

- New village gateway signs.
- Work to the Cenotaph wall.
- New trestle tables for community events.
- A new village notice board situated outside the Spar shop to keep everyone informed on 'What's going on, in and around the village'.

... and still to come are some planters, which will be placed on the A470 as you come in to Dolwyddelan, to provide colour all year round. A big thank you to Ann Fellows for designing the decoration templates which the blacksmith has used on the planters.
