

Dolwyddelan Open Gardens

Save the date: Saturday 7th June

We will be organising the Open Gardens Event in the village again this year as our annual fundraiser for St Gwyddelan's Church.

Open Gardens is an event where people in the village offer to open their garden, or part of their garden, for the day, for visitors to have a look round. It is an opportunity to be inspired by different types of gardens and different ways of gardening, to get some ideas, have a chat, quite often some refreshments and the option to buy some locally grown plants are laid on.

We are looking for people willing to join in this year and open their garden for the day. We are really interested in a wide range of gardening styles - gardens for produce (fruit and vegetable growing), for wildlife (meadows, wilder areas), small or micro gardens - a few pots on a patio or a particular type of garden/style, as well as gardens in different stages of development (no garden is ever 'finished'). So please don't think that your garden is not suitable, everyone is welcome.

If you would like to take part in the event, please contact Sue Layland on sue.layland@gmail.com for more information. Ticket sales and information will be available closer to the time, on posters around the village and on the church facebook page.

Sue Layland

USED BOOK SALE

There is lots of 'new' stock on the used book stall in the Pavilion.

Get ready for spring with many veg plot, allotment and flower garden books.

The stall is usually accesible when lights are on at the Pavilion.

Honesty Box

