

The old Afon Lledr is STILL dear to us!
But where are the fish? The innumerable salmon?
Has Yr Afanc taken them, and swallowed them from the flow?!

Despite this the Lledr is STILL dear to us!
What do we want? Loads of animals!
What do we want? Right to fish!
What do we want? Less rubbish!
The old Afon Lledr is dear to us!

The old Afon Lledr will be dear to us
And her fish will swarm and jump her flow
How do we get the salmon back to us?
The old Afon Lledr is dear to us!

What do we want? More plants!
What do we want? Protection of habitat!
What do we want? Respect for the river!

The old Afon Lledr is dear to us!
The old Afon Lledr is dear to us!
The old Afon Lledr is dear to us!

The website also has two subtitled videos filmed with the late Eurwyn Roberts, Pencafnau. One short film of Eurwyn tying the Red Bajar, as well as a conversation with Eurwyn about fishing in the area. The intention was to come back to Eurwyn for further talks, but very sadly that was not possible by then.

The films were shown to the community recently and we hope to carry on the conversation about fresh water in creative ways in Dolwyddelan. Please get in touch via gofodglas.org with your input or to get involved.

Thanks to everyone who has contributed so far, Rhodri will soon return any documents or items previously borrowed.
